Senator Owen Opens Fireworks in Speech at San Francisco.

HARDING IS RAPPED

San Francisco, June 22.—Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, first of the Democratic candidates for the nomination for the presidency to arrive here, today fired his opening broadside. Among the victims of his shrapnel, direct or by ricochet were:

President Wilson.

The 'wets" and the "drys.'

The supreme court.

The Republican platform makers.

Dealers in necessities.

And then some.

"I am opposed," he said his dark eyes snapping, "to the league of nations or liquor being carried to the campaign as the main points in dispute. The real issue is the high cost of living. I favor a plank calling for the ratfication of the treaty on terms acceptable by the majority of the senate. The treaty must be got out of the way at once.

WANTS ENFORCEMENT

"I afvor ederal control by license strict enforcement of the 18th amendment and if the Volstead act is not strong enough then I favor making it stronger.

'I favor ederal control by license of all concerns distributing the necessities of life making it possible for the public to procure what it needs at a fair price.

"I oppose a few men, appointed for life, governing this country. I mean the supreme court and I say it without apology. It is not the supreme court's fault, however, but the fault of congress and of the people because neither one nor the other offers any complaint. The constitution does not have to be changed to remedy this. Congress can do it very simply by drawing a line beyond which the supreme court is not to go.'

"Now they are saying he is a progressive," the Oklahoma senator remarked "because they know only a progressive can win in this election. The work of the Republicans at Chicago was fine—for the Democrats. Their platform and their ticket appreciably add to the chances of the opposition.'

Berlin Newspaper Says Report Started By Correspondent.

Berlin, June 22.—Efforts to confirm sensational rumors printed in the United States that an attempt had been made to assassinate the ex-kaiser at Doorn were unsuccessful today. The rumor was denied both at Potsdam and at the Dutch legation.

"The rumor was the invention of a sensational American journalist to salve his disappointment over his inablity to interview the former emperor," said the Neue Berliner.

FIGHTING CONTINUES IN LONDONDERRY IN SPITE OF BRITISH

Continuous Sniping Reported In Streets Of Irish City.

London, June 22.— Sanguinary fighting between Sinn Feiners and Unionists was renewed at Londoderry today and three Sinn Feiners were wounded in one class during the morning, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Londonderry. It is now established that seven persons were killed in the fighting at Londonderry Monday.

British troops are patrolling the streets, but sniping is continuous from buildings.

Two thousand soldiers were rushed from Curragh to reinforce the troops at Londonderry, but no word of their arrival had been received up to noon and it was supposed that they had been held up enroute.

All passenger trains nearing Londonderry are searched by British soldiers and constables to prevent Sinn Feiners from approaching the city from south Ireland to mobolize against the Unionsts.

Dublin reported that rioting was resumed at Londonderry during the night and that further casualties had occurred in street fghting, but no figures were given.

It is reported in Dublin that the British government contemplates suspension of railway traffic in central and northern Ireland to prevent the concentration of Sinn Feiners. Leaders of the Irish railway unions declared they were ready to extend the strike which already is in effect if the government attempts to carry out such action.

MOB LYNCHES MAN ALLEGED GIRL'S SLAYER

Savannah, Ga., June 22.—Phillip Gaithers, a negro, was lynched near Rincon, Ga., after he had confessed to the murder of Miss Anza Jaudon, 17, last week. Gaithers was arrested near Stilson, Ga., on information furnished by another negro. Gaithers first was chained to a tree and oil poured on his lothing, but when an effort was made to apply a torch the negro broke the chain. Some one in the crowd of several hundred gathered to witness the lynching fired and this proved the signal for a fusillade. When the negro fell dead scores of men rushed forward to get parts of his body or clothing as souvenirs.

WILL EXCHANGE PRISONERS.

London, June 22.—The Sinn Feiners are ready to exchange "prisoners of war" taken in a clash near Brosna where the barracks were burned last Friday, said a dispatch in the Evening News today. During the fighting the Sinn Feiners wounded three British soldiers, who were held as prisoners. Other British soldiers were captured and held by the Sinn Feiners as hostages for six Sinn Feiners who were captured by the British military forces a fortnight previously at Brosna.

MEETING DOES LITTLE

Italy Refuses Plans Of England And France, Report.

Boulogne, June 22.—The inter allied conference adjourned at 1 o'clock this afternoon without having reached a decision on the resumption of commercial relations with Russia. The decision was held up by Premier Millerand's insistence upon more definite assurances from the soviet regarding the payment of Russia's war debts.

A communique was issued stating that the negotiations between the British representatives and the bolshevik trade delegation, headed by Gregory Krassin, will be continued at London on the understanding that they will not entail political recognition of the soviet government.

Both Premier Lloyd George and Premier Millerand said they were "thoroughly satisfied" with the results of the conference.

A new allied note, demanding the immediate disarmament of Germany in accordance with the terms of the treaty of Versailles, was sent to Berlin today. It was formally approved by Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the British general staff.

In some quarters no secret is made of the fact that so far the conference has been barren of results except for the rejection of some of the international schemes proposed at previous meetings of the allied statesmen.

One of the leading participants privately expressed his disgust to the newspaper correspondents over the continued inscrutable debates which doubtless will be continued elsewhere.

Count Sforza, the Italian foreign minister, kicked over the traces immediately after the arrival of Premier Lloyd George and Premier Millerand from Hythe, England, on Monday. In a private interview with the British premier, Count Sforza said that the new Italian ministry, headed by Premier Giolitti, would not be a party to any private arrangements between England and France which Italy would be expected to approve in a few hours discussions at Boulogne. Italy wants considerable time to expose the Giolitti cabinet's views, especially on the suggestions for ending the Russian imbroglio. Furthermore Italy seeks assurances that Greece will not be permitted "to cut loose" in Turkey without any restraint from the other powers.

Premier Lloyd George has already assured the Italian representative that England and France would join Greece in any action taken against the Turkish nationalists. Mr. Lloyd George went further today and gave additional assurances that Italian interests would be fully protected in Turkey.

Contracts were let at a speeal meeting of the City Commission held Monday afternoon, for labor and supplies in connection with the development of a new water supply in this city.

The bids for the work were received June 15, and the meeting recessed until Monday in order to have the bids tabulated and ready for consideration. Burgess & and Niple, of Columbus, consulting engineers employed by the city recommended the acceptance of the bid of the H. E. Miller Co., of Columbus, for the laying of the 12 inch cast iron force main from the new station to the city and for taking up the 14 inch cast iron force main now in use.

The bid of the Miller Co. for the work was $11,164. All bids were rejected for furnishing the 12 inch cast iron force main and the city will purchase these supplies directly from the manufacturers efecting a saving of more than $4000 in this manner.

The Davo-Doyle Co., of Pittsburg were the successful bdders for furnishing and erecting the pumps and motors. The bids of the Davo-Doyle Co., was $5,580 for furnishing two low service and one high service pump and one booster fire pump, and the motors for each, making four pumps and four motors altogether. COAL PRICES SOAR; FAMINE PREDICTED IN PARTS OF LAND

Added Tax Of $6.00 Per Ton To Boost Consumer's Price.

Washington, June 22.—According to the latest survey, coal consumers face an added tax of $6 or more on every ton of soft coal. The poorest grades of Ohio slack, mine run and lump bituminous coal sell at from $7.50 to $9 a net ton at the mines, with the prospect of going still higher. Coal from Pittsburgh, West Virginia and Kentucky fields costs from $8.50 to $13 a net ton at the mines. These prices average three times the government prices in effect April 1. They are prices of coal as it comes from the mines. Consumers pay this mine price plus freight and the jobber's and retailer's margin of profit and cost of conducting business.

The situation is said to be due to three main causes:

First, underproduction already has created a coal shortage; second, railroads are so congested that mines are getting only 40 per cent of their normal supply of cars, and third, coal buyers, bidding against each other for delivery, are enabling mine operators to charge high and steadily increasing prices in a runaway market.

An acute famine, also, is in prospect for parts of the United States, particularly in the northwestern states served with fuel by the Great Lakes route.

WORLD LEAGUE IS NOT MAIN ISSUE SAY DEMOCRATS

McCombs and Lewis Attack Wilson In Statements.

Chicago, June 22.—Statements were issued here by W. F. McCombs, national Democratic party chairman in 1912, and James Hamilton Lewis, former senator from Illinois.

Lewis is a candidate for the vice presidential nomination. He announced the platform he will advocate and said he could not agree with President Wilson's statement that the league of nations was to be the supreme issue.

Measures "for the relief of the United States" must be proposed, leaving Europe and foreign countries to be taken up in due time, he declared, and added, "the league and peace treaty should not be treated as sacred documents, but subject to such amendment as the needs of our country and justice to the victorious and defeated people demand."

Lewis' platform declared in favor of the government taking the railways telegraph lines, oil and coal lands from private monopoly and assuming control for the people, the method of operation to be by private or public agency, as the conditions of each concern may warrant. One plank demanded for Ireland "the fullest aid our institutions permit."

EARTHQUAKE DOES SEVERE DAMAGE IN LOS ANGELES

One Dead; Property Destroyed Amounting To Thousands Of Dollars As Result Of Tremor In California Monday.

Los Angeles, June 22.—Seven buildings at Inglewood, a Los Angeles suburb, are in ruins, with damage running into many thousands of dollars, one woman is dead from fright and several persons injured as the result of last night's earthquake which shook southern California, according to a survey made today.

The woman who died from heart failure, superinduced by the tremble, was Mrs. Ella Shippy, 60, of Venice, Cal. She started to run when the trembles rocked the earth under her at 6:58 last night and dropped dead from exhaustion and shock.

Minor damage was done in Los Angeles, most to chimneys and plate glass windows which crashed under the quake, including the big Edison electric plant. The buildings collapsed in nearly every instance under the roll of the earth.

The duration of the shock was a few seconds in some parts of the trembling zone, ranging to almost a minute in the severest center., which was Inglewood. No damage of consequence was reported from any other section and the quake was felt as far north as Santa Barbara, 100 miles away.

BREAD FAMINE FEARED.

Belfast, June 22.—Londonderry is without bread and milk as a result of the fighting which has been in progress since last Saturday, according to information received by telephone today. Business is at a standstill for, the streets are swept by rifle fire. British troops that were sent to Londonderry from Barracks in northern Ireland are trying to establish a cordon between the Unionists and Sinn Feiners. Railwaymen refused to man trains that were carrying British troops to Londonderry from the south of Ireland.

DAYLIGHT SAVING ORDINANCES IN OHIO UPHELD BY COURT

Application To Revoke Time In Cincinnati Not Favored.

Columbus, O., June 22.—Municipal daylight saving ordinances in Ohio were upheld today by the state supreme court.

The court turned down the application of Edgar W. Cist, Cincinnati attorney, for an order compelling the city of Cincinnati and its officials to set and run their public clocks and to regulate their public proceedings by central standard time.

Counsel for Cincinnati city officials argued that, under the home rule amendment to the state constitution, Cincinnati is authorized to prescribe a standard of time for its own local offices and purely municipal transactions.

Consistent with this belief, the city council passed a daylight saving ordinance turning the clocks in Cincinnati ahead one hour. The ordinance is effective from 2 a. m. on the last Sunday in April to the same hour and day next September.

M'ADOO'S FRIENDS TO INSIST THAT HE BE A CANDIDATE

Kansas City, Mo., June 22—Indications that friends of William G. McAdoo will "stop at nothing" in their efforts to force his name before the Democratic national convention stood out clearly in a statement issued by Burris Jenkins, editor and publisher of the Kansas City Post here today.

In his statement, he sets forth the following.

"Thomas B. Love, national Democratic committeeman from Texas called me over long distance telephone from Pueblo Monday night while en route to San Francisco and said:

" 'I've traveled west from Kansas City with the Alabama delegation and eighteen of the 24 delegates favor putting McAdoo in nomination, consent or no consent. The former treasury head, they declare, is the one and only leader with whom the Democrats can feel sure of victory. McAdoo must, they insist, be nominated."

CLEVELAND ALARMED OVER NON DELIVERY OF COAL IS ON JOB

Cleveland, O., June 22—With the widespread alarm of a fuel shortage next winter on account of retarded delivery, two movements to secure coal for this city were on foot today.

1. City council last night directed Mayor Fitzgerald to appoint an offical to arrange for the establishment, not later than September 1, of a municipal coal yard to sell coal at a cost plus the expense of delivery.

2. A meeting was called for Thursday afternoon of the executive committee of the retail coal dealers board by President Alva Bradley, of the Chamber of Commerce to devise ways and means to secure an adequate supply for domestic use.

Senator Harding Approves Personnel of Executive Body.

OPEN HEADQUARTERS

Publicity Begun For Campaign To Educate Voters.

Washington, June 22.—The Republican national campaign today swung into action throughout the country.

Before coming to his offices in the senate office buildnig this morning, Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee, aproved selections by the national committee of the personnel of the executive committee, which wtihi htnational committee Chairman Hays, will direct the campaign.

Acceptances have been received from those appointed to this committee and telegraphic and telephonic mesages, rushed forward during the night, had outlined their duties and started them on the campaign.

Headquarters at New York Chicago, Washington and San Francisco and the sub-headquarters at Denver previously established by Hays, were directed this morning to put themselves in shape for the most active campaign that the managers can put through.

Chairman Hays indicated today that special attention is to be paid to publicity feature of the campaign. Careful plans are being laid for the education of the voters on policy to be pursued by the Republicans if restored to complete national power in the legislative branches of the government.

NOT ONE MAN AFFAR

Special stress is to be laid on the declaration of Senator Harding that there shall be an end to one man power and a return to a constitutional form of government under the Republican party.

Former factional differences are being ignored or brushed aside as though they are non existing.

He was cheered today by the unanimously favorable reports he received from National committemen of the reaction to his nomination throughout the country. These reports came from John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, A. T. Hert, Kentucky, C. D. Hilles, New York, Ralph E. Williams Oregon and J T. Hamon, Oklahoma. Led by Chairman Hays they advised a front porch campaign which coincides with the views and desires of Senator Harding. Chairman Hays said rtis morning that nothing has come to him indicating that a speech touring campaign was desirable o necessary. Unless all present plans change, Harding is to out do McKinley on tre stay-at home campaign.

He has decided to make his speesr of acceptance from ris front porer at the Marion, Ohio, home. It is probable that Harding will make all the major speeches of his campaign from this staging, waiting there to be visited by the encouraging Republican hosts, even as McKinley waited in the 1896 campaign the first of its kind ever conducted.

Wilson's Nomination Declared To Be Impossibility.

Kansas City, June 22. — President Wilson's nomination for a third term was declared to be an impossibility, because of the condition of the president's health, in an interview given out by Jouett Shouse, third assistant secretary of the United States treasury. "No real friend of the president regards his nomination as a possibility," said Mr. Shouse, who is on his way to the Democratic national convention. "If he now had the strength and vigor that he had in 1916 his nomination for a third term might be considered a probability. But his friends know he is not in good health. There was not the slightest collusion between the statement of President Wilson and the withdrawal of McAdoo from the race."

EARTHQUAKE DOES SEVERE DAMAGE IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, June 22.—Seven buildings at Inglewood, a Los Angeles suburb, are in ruins, with damage running into many thousands of dollars, one woman is dead from fright and several persons injured as the result of last night's earthquake which shook southern California, according to a survey made today.

The woman who died from heart failure, superinduced by the tremble, was Mrs. Ella Shippy, 60, of Venice, Cal. She started to run when the trembles rocked the earth under her at 6:58 last night and dropped dead from exhaustion and shock.

Minor damage was done in Los Angeles, most to chimneys and plate glass windows which crashed under the quake, including the big Edison electric plant. The buildings collapsed in nearly every instance under the roll of the earth.

The duration of the shock was a few seconds in some parts of the trembling zone, ranging to almost a minute in the severest center., which was Inglewood. No damage of consequence was reported from any other section and the quake was felt as far north as Santa Barbara, 100 miles away.

Application To Revoke Time In Cincinnati Not Favored.

The court turned down the application of Edgar W. Cist, Cincinnati attorney, for an order compelling the city of Cincinnati and its officials to set and run their public clocks and to regulate their public proceedings by central standard time.

Counsel for Cincinnati city officials argued that, under the home rule amendment to the state constitution, Cincinnati is authorized to prescribe a standard of time for its own local offices and purely municipal transactions.

Consistent with this belief, the city council passed a daylight saving ordinance turning the clocks in Cincinnati ahead one hour. The ordinance is effective from 2 a. m. on the last Sunday in April to the same hour and day next September.

M'ADOO'S FRIENDS TO INSIST THAT HE BE A CANDIDATE

In his statement, he sets forth the following.

"Thomas B. Love, national Democratic committeeman from Texas called me over long distance telephone from Pueblo Monday night while en route to San Francisco and said:

" 'I've traveled west from Kansas City with the Alabama delegation and eighteen of the 24 delegates favor putting McAdoo in nomination, consent or no consent. The former treasury head, they declare, is the one and only leader with whom the Democrats can feel sure of victory. McAdoo must, they insist, be nominated."

Senator Harding Approves Personnel of Executive Body.

OPEN HEADQUARTERS

Publicity Begun For Campaign To Educate Voters.

Washington, June 22.—The Republican national campaign today swung into action throughout the country.

Before coming to his offices in the senate office buildnig this morning, Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee, aproved selections by the national committee of the personnel of the executive committee, which wtihi htnational committee Chairman Hays, will direct the campaign.

Acceptances have been received from those appointed to this committee and telegraphic and telephonic mesages, rushed forward during the night, had outlined their duties and started them on the campaign.

Headquarters at New York Chicago, Washington and San Francisco and the sub-headquarters at Denver previously established by Hays, were directed this morning to put themselves in shape for the most active campaign that the managers can put through.

Chairman Hays indicated today that special attention is to be paid to publicity feature of the campaign. Careful plans are being laid for the education of the voters on policy to be pursued by the Republicans if restored to complete national power in the legislative branches of the government.

NOT ONE MAN AFFAR

Special stress is to be laid on the declaration of Senator Harding that there shall be an end to one man power and a return to a constitutional form of government under the Republican party.

Former factional differences are being ignored or brushed aside as though they are non existing.

He was cheered today by the unanimously favorable reports he received from National committemen of the reaction to his nomination throughout the country. These reports came from John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, A. T. Hert, Kentucky, C. D. Hilles, New York, Ralph E. Williams Oregon and J T. Hamon, Oklahoma. Led by Chairman Hays they advised a front porch campaign which coincides with the views and desires of Senator Harding. Chairman Hays said rtis morning that nothing has come to him indicating that a speech touring campaign was desirable o necessary. Unless all present plans change, Harding is to out do McKinley on tre stay-at home campaign.

He has decided to make his speesr of acceptance from ris front porer at the Marion, Ohio, home. It is probable that Harding will make all the major speeches of his campaign from this staging, waiting there to be visited by the encouraging Republican hosts, even as McKinley waited in the 1896 campaign the first of its kind ever conducted.

Kansas City, June 22. — Presiden Wilson's nomination for a third term was declared to be an impossibility because of the condition of the president's health, in an interview given out by Jouett Shouse, third assistant secretary of the United States treasury. "No real friend of the president regards his nomination as a possibility," said Mr. Shouse, who is on his way to the Democratic national convention. "If he now had the strength and vigor that he had in 1916 his nomination for a third term might be considered a probability. But his friends know he is not in good health. There was not the slightest collusion between the statement of President Wilson and the withdrawal of McAdoo from the race."

Better Than Spanking

Spanking does not cure children of BED-WETTING. Don't blame the child; there is a cause for this trouble. If your children are afflicted, try Mrs. Summers' home treatment for bed-wetting, which has proved a blessing to hundreds of families. Ask your druggist for Mrs. Summers' Bed-Wetting Remedy, or send for FREE TRIAL by addressing The Summers Medical Co., Box W, South Bend, Ind.

BUG-OLOGY

What do you call them?

Bedbug (Cimex lectularius). The origin of the name bedbug is unknown, but is supposed to be naturally suggested as it is descriptive. There are many local names for these parasites, as for illustration, around Boston they are called "Chinches," from Baltimore comes the name "Mahogany Flat," in New York they are styled as "Red Coats," around Pittsburgh they are called "Pesky Devils," in Cincinnati and the South "Nightriders," in St. Louis and Chicago district "Crimson Ramblers," the great West "Pilgrims" The old saying, "the bedbug has no teeth, but they get there just the same," is correct. Instead of teeth they possess a piercing and suckling beak to draw and rob you of your blood for their own body.

Bedbugs, no matter what you may call them, or where they came from, science has found a way to rid them if you will use faithfully the new chemical Pesky Devils Quietus "P. D. Q." A 35c package makes one quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas, ants or cooties, and their eggs as well. P. D. Q. will not injure bedding, and each package contains a patent spout to enable you to get them in the hard-to-get-at-places. Impossible for Pesky Devils to exist where P. D. Q. is used.

Bedbug (Cimex lectularius). The origin of the name bedbug is unknown, but is supposed to be naturally suggested as it is descriptive. There are many local names for these parasites, as for illustration, around Boston they are called "Chinches," from Baltimore comes the name "Mahogany Flat," in New York they are styled as "Red Coats," around Pittsburgh they are called "Pesky Devils," in Cincinnati and the South "Nightriders," in St. Louis and Chicago district "Crimson Rambiers," the great West "Pilgrims" The old saying, "the bedbug has no teeth, but they get there just the same," is correct. Instead of teeth they possess a piercing and suckling beak to draw and rob you of your blood for their own body.

Bedbugs, no matter what you may call them, or where they came from, science has found a way to rid them if you will use faithfully the new chemical Pesky Devils Quietus "P. D. Q." A 35c package makes one quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas, ants or cooties, and their eggs as well. P. D. Q. will not injure bedding, and each package contains a patent spout to enable you to get them in the hard-to-get-at-places. Impossible for Pesky Devils to exist where P. D. Q. is used.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" by George McManus

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

Is It Yours

GUISEPPE NAZZINI

One of the greatest of the Italian patriots was Guisseppe Mazzini, who was born in Genoa in 1805. His father was a well to do physcician, his mother a woman of great personal beauty. As a boy Mazzini was so delicate that he was 6 year old before he could walk, but he had already began to devour all sorts of books. He entered the university at a very early age, intending to become a physician like his father. But he could never overcome his horror of practical anatomy, so he decided upon a literary career.

His first published essay, characteristicaly enough was on 'Dante's Love of Country." Gradually his desire to make Italy a free country overcame all other considerations. Everything was toward that end. He was imprisoned and finally exiled to France. Later he had to withdraw to Switzerland and finally found a refuge in London. All the time he was writing and organizing societies to liberate Italy from foreign and domestic oppressors.

For a short time he saw active fighting with Garibaldi and seevral times he held political positions under the short-lived governments set up in Italy. The sentence of death which he had been under for many many years was finally removed—but he refused to accept it as an 'offer of oblivion and pardon for having loved Italy above all earthly things.'

He died at Pisa in 1872 and as is often the case with agitators martyred during life time he was given at his funeral all the honors denied him during his life

RECIPES FOR A DAY

Cheese Souffle—Grease inside of baking dish; cover the bottom with pieces of bread the size of a dollar; cover with heavy grating of dry American cheese; repeat until dish is filled within an inch of top. Beat two eggs stiff, add three-quarters cup of milk, three-quarters cup of water and a little more than one-quarter teaspoon salt. Pour over bread, being sure all bread is covered. Grate cheese over top and bake in moderate oven for twenty minutes.

Lettuce and Celery Salad—Arrange few leaves of lettuce on dish, add chopped celery and pour over all dressing made of one tablespoon our, one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, yolk of one egg; mix together, then ad done-half cup of vinegar and one-half cup water; cook in double boiler for five minutes; let cool.

Beefsteak Rolls—Prepare a good dressing as for chicken or duck. Take a round steak, pound it, but not too hard, spread dressing over it, sprinkle in a little salt, pepper and few bits of butter; lap over ends, roll up tightly and tie closely; spread two spoons butter over the steak, put water in roaster, lay steak in so as not to touch water; one-half hour in a brisk oven will bake; baste quite frequently; make brown gravy and send to table hot.

TWO GOOD SOUPS

Cover onions with water, add salt, simmer until onions are cooked, adding water when necessary. When ready to serve add white sauce, persley and other seasonings.

Cream Potato Soup—Peel and cut up three or four potatoes, two or three onions, salt and any left-over celery. Boil until they are real soft, then put them through sieve. Put a tablespoon of butter substitute in a sauce pan, add to it one tablespoon of flour, add the soup ingredients, then one pint of milk. Heat good, but do not let boil. This is particularly good for children, also good for grown-ups.

CANNING TIME

Preserved Strawberries—Add a little cold water to six pounds of strawberries, and cook slowly as for jelly. Put the fruit in a jelly bag and let it drip over night. Add to the juice six pounds of granulated sugar and half a pound of strained honey. Boil to a thic': syrup. Fill pint jars with fresh strawberries, the largest and best possible. Screw on the top and put the jars in a large kettle of water, and let the water come to a boil. Open jars and fill to the brim with hot syrup. Seal in the usual manner and store in a cool, dark place.

A simple strawberry preserve may be made by drying in the sun or in a warm oven, equal weights of strawberries and strained honey. Put into sterilized glasses and seal.

"JUST A GIRL"

BY JANE PHELPS

WORK AT LAST

All day I revolved in my mind the question of writing to Kenneth Lawrence. All day I tried to reason the right and wrong of things the wise or the unwise step to take. But altho worn out, when night came I was no nearer a decision.

Suppose Kenneth, in spite of his being a comparatively poor man, had paid me attention knowing that as an only child I would naturally inherit my father's wealth. If that had been my attraction for him, it could only lead to embarrassment for me to disclose myself. Not only that, but it would add to my distress and make things harder for me.

"If he cared very much he would find me somehow," I said to myself as I sat by my window at dusk. Then, recalling an old habit of Claudia Shephard's, I lighted the gas, and found a coin in my purse.

"Heads I write, tails I don't!" I said. Then, "Best two out of three."

The coin came tails up all three times.

"That's settled!" I declared, then went out for a walk before going to bed.

I had heard that often Destiny hung upon a thread. Mine had hung upon The spnning of a coin.

The next day I started a round of the department stores.

I went to several of the smaller ones first. Someway I felt that in a smaller place I might meet with more consideration. But I tried until late afternoon and only met with sueh rebuffs as:

"We have filled the place," or "You don't look strong enough, and as you know nothing of the stock, we'll have to take someone else" or "We never take a girl who isn't living with her parents without references," and many other reasons why I was not a suitable person to sell needles and thread or to try on gloves.

Fihally I tried one of the largest stores. There I was given a place at the waist counter—the one where bargain waists were displayed daily "The hardest place in the shop," one of the girls told me later. I was to receive $8 a week at first.

"If we find you quick, and a good saleswoman, we will give you $10 after a while," the man to whom I applied had told me Then, "We shall expect you to wear a plain dark gown with white collar, and to make a neat appearance. I see you will do that," he added kindly.

I was delighted that he had not said I must wear a black dress, for if he had, I couldn't have taken the place I had only about $7 to my name. Before I left that morning, I had paid Mrs. Lynch 4 weeks rent of the room—I would have a roof over me for that time. I had a dark blue serge, a dress mother bought me to wear when I went shopping mornings. It was beautifuly made, and the serge was very fine, but it was so plain that I hoped these things would escape observation.

It had come to a point where the feeling that good, and expensive clothes were a drawback, was an obsession with me. I envied the cheap, and cheaply tailored dresses I saw on working girls. They weren't insulted because of them.

That night I told Mrs Lynch of my success in getting work.

"It's glad I am for ye. Mony's the poor girl that never gets a job at al at all."

"Then what do they do?"

"They gits tired tryin' was what I was a-meanin'. Their money gives out, and thin—God bless you, but they goes straight to the divil by the way of the streets, and some rascal's coaxin' tongue."

"Oh, how awful!" In all my life I had heard so little of how the other half lived, how the other kind existed, that it now always came as a shock to me when anyone talked of it.

"Ain't it tho! Niver have nothin' to say to no mon what you ain't met proper, me dear. Thin be careful, too. Men has coaxin' ways sometimes. Didn't Tom Lynch pretend to be shet of the drink to git me to say yis. And the priest hadn't hardly tould us we was mon and woife before he was drunk again.' They ain't to be trusted—not many of thim."

"I will be very careful, Mrs. Lynch. I am so glad I have found work I can't think of anything else."

"God bless your swate face, I hopes ye kapes the job if it makes you happy."

GUISEPPE NAZZINI

One of the greatest of the Italian patriots was Guisseppe Mazzini, who was born in Genoa in 1805. His father was a well to do physcician, his mother a woman of great personal beauty. As a boy Mazzini was so delicate that he was 6 year old before he could walk, but he had already began to devour all sorts of books. He entered the university at a very early age. intending to become a physician like his father. But he could never overcome his horror of practical anatomy, so he decided upon a literary career.

His first published essay, characteristicaly enough was on 'Dante's Love of Country." Gradually his desire to make Italy a free country overcame all other considerations. Everything was toward that end. He was imprisoned and finally exiled to France. Later he had to withdraw to Switzerland and finally found a refuge in London. All the time he was writing and organizing societies to liberate Italy from foreign and domestic oppressors.

For a short time he saw active fighting with Garibaldi and seevral times he held political positions under the short-lived governments set up in Italy. The sentence of death which he had been under for many many years was finally removed—but he refused to accept it as an 'offer of oblivion and pardon for having loved Italy above all earthly things.'

He died at Pisa in 1872 and as is often the case with agitators martyred during life time he was given at his funeral all the honors denied him during his life

RECIPES FOR A DAY

Cheese Souffle—Grease inside of baking dish; cover the bottom with pieces of bread the size of a dollar; cover with heavy grating of dry American cheese; repeat until dish is filled within an inch of top. Beat two eggs stiff, add three-quarters cup of milk, three-quarters cup of water and a little more than one-quarter teaspoon salt. Pour over bread, being sure all bread is covered. Grate cheese over top and bake in moderate oven for twenty minutes.

Lettuce and Celery Salad—Arrange few leaves of lettuce on dish, add chopped celery and pour over all dressing made of one tablespoon our, one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, yolk of one egg; mix together, then ad done-half cup of vinegar and one-half cup water; cook in double boiler for five minutes; let cool.

Beefsteak Rolls—Prepare a good dressing as for chicken or duck. Take a round steak, pound it, but not too hard, spread dressing over it, sprinkle in a little salt, pepper and few bits of butter; lap over ends, roll up tightly and tie closely; spread two spoons butter over the steak, put water in roaster, lay steak in so as not to touch water; one-half hour in a brisk oven will bake; baste quite frequently; make brown gravy and send to table hot.

Cream Potato Soup—Peel and cut up three or four potatoes, two or three onions, salt and any left-over celery. Boil until they are real soft, then put them through sieve. Put a tablespoon of butter substitute in a sauce pan, add to it one tablespoon of flour, add the soup ingredients, then one pint of milk. Heat good, but do not let boil. This is particularly good for children, also good for grown-ups.

CANNING TIME

Preserved Strawberries—Add a little cold water to six pounds of strawberries, and cook slowly as for jelly. Put the fruit in a jelly bag and let it drip over night. Add to the juice six pounds of granulated sugar and half a pound of strained honey. Boil to a thic' syrup. Fill pint jars with fresh strawberries, the largest and best possible. Screw on the top and put the jars in a large kettle of water, and let the water come to a boil. Open jars and fill to the brim with hot syrup. Seal in the usual manner and store in a cool, dark place.

A simple strawberry preserve may be made by drying in the sun or in a warm oven, equal weights of strawberries and strained honey. Put into sterilized glasses and seal.

WORK AT LAST

All day I revolved in my mind the question of writing to Kenneth Lawrence. All day I tried to reason the right and wrong of things the wise or the unwise step to take. But altho worn out, when night came I was no nearer a decision.

Suppose Kenneth, in spite of his being a comparatively poor man, had paid me attention knowing that as an only child I would naturally inherit my father's wealth. If that had been my attraction for him, it could only lead to embarrassment for me to disclose myself. Not only that, but it would add to my distress and make things harder for me.

"If he cared very much he would find me somehow," I said to myself as I sat by my window at dusk. Then, recalling an old habit of Claudia Shephard's, I lighted the gas, and found a coin in my purse.

"Heads I write, tails I don't!" I said. Then, "Best two out of three."

The coin came tails up all three times

"That's settled!" I declared, then went out for a walk before going to bed.

I had heard that often Destiny hung upon a thread. Mine had hung upon The spnning of a coin.

The next day I started a round of the department stores.

I went to several of the smaller ones first. Someway I felt that in a smaller place I might meet with more consideration. But I tried until late afternoon and only met with sueh rebuffs as:

"We have filled the place," or "You don't look strong enough, and as you know nothing of the stock, we'll have to take someone else" or "We never take a girl who isn't living with her parents without references," and many other reasons why I was not a suitable person to sell needles and thread or to try on gloves.

Finally I tried one of the largest stores. There I was given a place at the waist counter—the one where bargain waists were displayed daily "The hardest place in the shop," one of the girls told me later. I was to receive $8 a week at first.

"If we find you quick, and a good saleswoman, we will give you $10 after a while," the man to whom I applied had told me Then, "We shall expect you to wear a plain dark gown with white collar, and to make a neat appearance. I see you will do that," he added kindly.

I was delighted that he had not said I must wear a black dress, for if he had, I couldn't have taken the place I had only about $7 to my name. Before I left that morning, I had paid Mrs. Lynch 4 weeks rent of the room—I would have a roof over me for that time. I had a dark blue serge, a dress mother bought me to wear when I went shopping mornings. It was beautifuly made, and the serge was very fine, but it was so plain that I hoped these things would escape observation.

It had come to a point where the feeling that good, and expensive clothes were a drawback, was an obsession with me. I envied the cheap, and cheaply tailored dresses I saw on working girls. They weren't insulted because of them.

That night I told Mrs Lynch of my success in getting work.

"It's glad I am for ye. Mony's the poor girl that never gets a job at al at all."

"Then what do they do?"

"They gits tired tryin' was what I was a-meanin'. Their money gives out, and thin—God bless you, but they goes straight to the divil by the way of the streets, and some rascal's coaxin' tongue."

"Oh, how awful!" In all my life I had heard so little of how the other half lived, how the other kind existed, that it now always came as a shock to me when anyone talked of it.

"Ain't it tho! Niver have nothin' to say to no mon what you ain't met proper, me dear. Thin be careful, too. Men has coaxin' ways sometimes. Didn't Tom Lynch pretend to be shet of the drink to git me to say yis. And the priest hadn't hardly tould us we was mon and woife before he was drunk again.' They ain't to be trusted—not many of thim."

"I will be very careful, Mrs. Lynch. I am so glad I have found work I can't think of anything else."

"God bless your swate face, I hopes ye kapes the job if it makes you happy."

Tomorrow—A Shop Girl.

BETTIE K SCHEDULED TO START WEDNESDAY ON AKRON TRACK

Rain has been playing a big hand in the early race meetings over the state this year, and a downpour Monday necessitated the postponement of the getaway program at the Akron quarterly meeting.

Bettie K., R. S. Kingsbury's handsome little three year old trotter, with a mark of 2:24 is scheduled to start in the three year old stake at Akron Wednesday, unless the rain and subsequent postponement will shift the stake to a later day in the week. Mr. Kingsbury, who will leave for Akron Tuesday evening had not learned of a postponement before he left.

Rain cost the local three year old money at Canton last week it is thought, Betty K taking third money in the three year old stake after the event was postponed all week until Saturday. Joe Hagler of this city, who is driving the trotter was unable to give her the proper workouts due to the bad weather. At that she trotted the mile in 2:14 1-2 finishing second in the second heat.

Stephen G. Phillips, of this city is starting the horses at Akron this week. This is the first enagagement of the local starter for this season and he is taking the season's initial step in one of the most popular meetings held annually in Ohio. The local starter was idle Monday because of rain, it is hoped that the elements will not spoil the rest of the week's speed program.

Heart and Home Problems

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: If a girl has no parents, but a large family of brothers and sisters, in whose name should her wedding announcements be made? Will you please give me some pretty ways in which to announce the coming wedding at an announcement luncheon?

X. Y. Z.

It would be proper to have your marriage announced by the oldest married brother or sister or by whoever is the logical head of the family. "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith have the honor to announce the marriage of their sister, Mary Jones, to Mr. James Henry Brown, on Saturday, June nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty," would be the proper form; or, lacking parents, the young people often announce their own marriage, thus: "Mr. James Henry Brown and Mary Jones have the honor to announce their marriage on June nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty."

For the announcement of the engagement at a luncheon the names of the engaged pair, or better still a small folder containing their pictures, should be concealed in the folded napkins or in the individual favors.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am fourteen years old and have been invited to a surprise party and told to bring a boy friend. I have never gone anywhere with boys. Should I say I can't go to the party or should I invite some one from school or the boy next door? The boy next door is a year younger than I am, but we have always been good friends.

DOROTHY DARLING.

Invite the boy next door. The fact that he is a year younger should make no difference.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: At a home wedding how should the bridal party be seated? The wedding is to be in the late afternoon and a reception will follow in the evening. How should the invitations be written and how should they be given? At the reception should the guests remove their wraps and who should act as host and hostess? What should be served at the reception? Who should buy the bridesmaids' flowers? RUTH.

If by your first question you mean at the wedding dinner, the bride and groom should sit at the head of the table with the bride's mother on the right of the groom and the groom's father at the left of the bride. The foot of the table would be taken by the father of the bride and mother of the groom, having next to them on the one hand the attendant of honor and on the other the best man.

Wedding invitations are usually engraved and sent by mail. If the wedding is to be very small and informal the invitations could be personal notes written by the bride. Sometimes the heaviest outer wraps are removed at a wedding reception, but it is quite usual to retain them, as one does not linger long as a rule, departing to make room for other guests.

If the reception is held at the home of the bride her parents are the host and hostess, the groom's parents receiving with them. The ushers introduce guests who are unknown to any of the receiving party and the bridesmaids and best man help to make things pleasant for all comers. Dainty sandwiches, olives, ice cream and cake may be served. Sometimes the groom buys the bridesmaids' flowers, but usually the bride does this.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Which is more appropriate for an engagement ring—the birth stone or the diamond? HELEN.

THE POOR PREACHER'S DILEMMA OVER THE QUESTION OF WORLDLY AMUSEMENTS.

We suppose no trouble has given the pastors of Protestant churches so many hours of heartburning uneasiness as the right way to deal with their members on the question of worldly amusements. They felt that the practice of these amusements diverted christians from the performance of the obligations they owe to God and the church—that those who had plenty of time for these amusements, were found to have scarcely any time for the church's weekly prayer meeting—and inferentially the laxity in the latter was blamed on the former, whether justly or not.

But herein came the pastor's bewildering puzzle as to his duty in the matter. Many a poor bewildered preacher, feeling that some of his members were giving a lie to their profession as christians, felt himself somehow to blame for their sins, and yet how could he help it. If he undertook to reprove them, he would lose them from the church, and perhaps do them more harm than good. Wherein was his duty? Surely in such a dilemma he needed the prayers of his faithful members.

One of the great religious denominations of the country has recently been holding its once-in-four-years Conference—the Methodists, at Des Moines, Iowa—and among other problems had to face this one of world amusements. Away back in 1872, nearly sixty years ago, the denomination had made a deliverence on the subject, and by its Paragraph No. 280 of its Church Discipline, had pronounced against dancing, card playing and theatre going. Ever since then this Paragraph 280 has been a bone of contention in the denomination, and of late years more serious than ever. So it was that the matter came up at this last General Conference—there being many petitions for retention of the paragraph, and some for its removal, among the latter one from the Chicago Ministerial Association.

Of course the theory of all who wish the removal of this Paragraph 280 is that it is better to have no church rule on a subject than to have one which is known to be largely broken. And many outsiders will feel the same way. But the General Conference gave no attention of consequence to those who wished Paragraph 280 removed from the Book of Discipline, and voted to retain it.

The church papers, however, since Conference, have been largely discussing the subject. We take the liberty of giving a paragraph or two from one such publication, as follows:

"The church as a voluntary organization has limited authority in enforcing its laws upon its membership. Who will enforce the penalty of Paragraph 280? Who will save it from being a dead letter? Who will have the courage to go forth in the name of the church and apply the statutes of the Discipline to offending members? Upon whom does such a duty devolve? The answer comes at once, The pastor. But how does the pastor rule his people? Not by statute or by book or by any external application of moral standards, but by developing and directing and appealing to the Christian conscience. Every sane pastor knows he can not enforce Paragraph 280. Why does he know he can not? It is not because he fears or fails to see his method of approach, or is in the least recreant to duty. It is because down in his heart he knows that is not the way to deal with men and women when they do the thing that imperils the health and strength of their spiritual lives.

"But it may be argued that it is the minister's business to enforce the Discipline upon offending members of his congregation. It surely is. What is to be done when he does not? Can he be made to do so? Who will make him? District superintendent? Bishop? Annual conference? His official members? Who can make the pastor enforce the Discipline on offending members? A truly bewildering question."

We are sure that many a pastor, who has had his heart broken over this question of worldly amusement among his members, not Methodists alone, but of all denominations, will appreciate this portrayal of "the fix" he is often placed in. If the dilemma was one of ordinary importance only, he would soon find the solution, but alas, feeling it one between him and his God is quite another thing, making it a matter of conscience, and conscience is God's vicegerent on earth. Then all he can do, is to do what his conscience tells him is the best course under the circumstances.

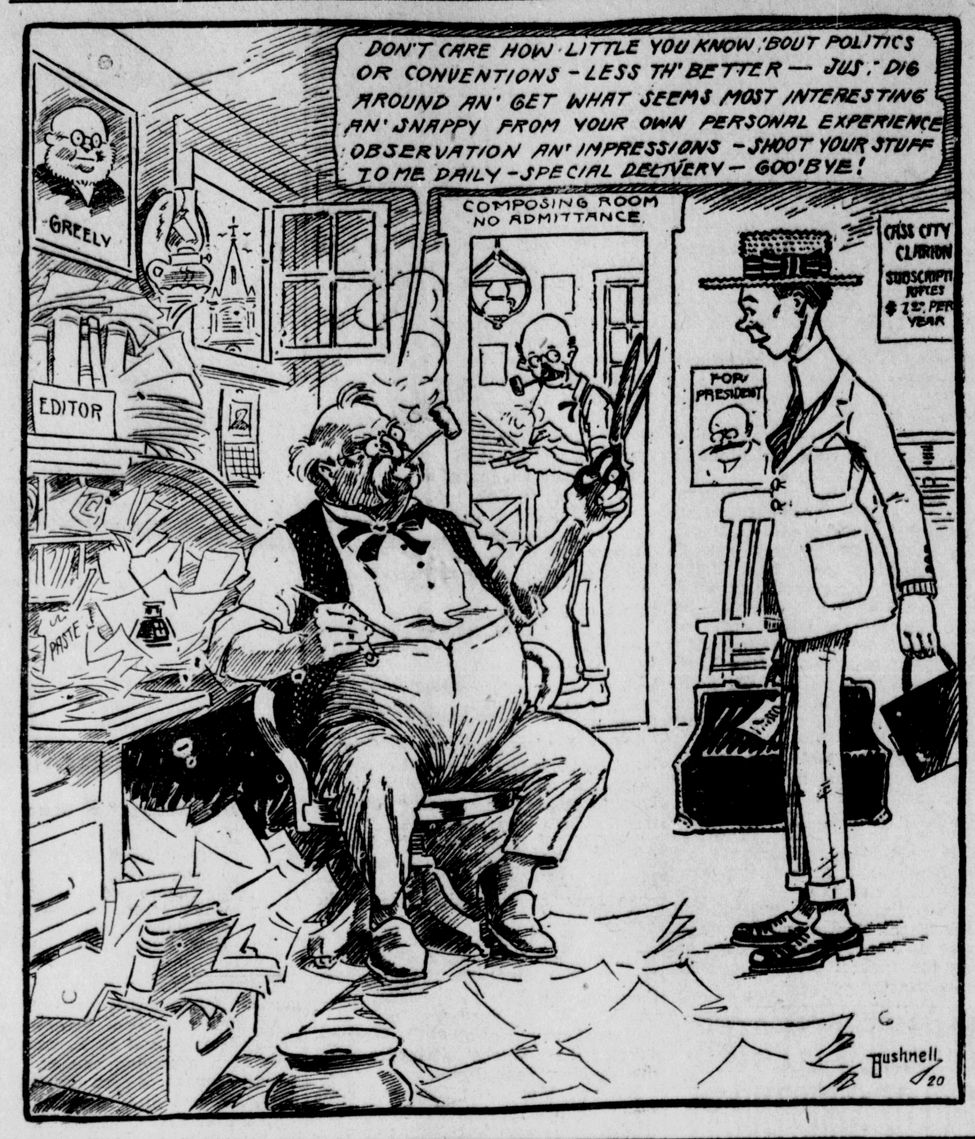

SCHWAB CONFIDENT OF NATION'S FUTURE—HAS NO TROUBLE WITH LABOR

Charles M. Schwab assured the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association, in convention at Bedford Springs, Pa., on Friday, that he has great confidence in the future. "There are just as big opportunities ahead as there ever were," he said. "I think this money shortage is exaggerated, and I see no real reason for disturbed conditions. I am an optimist on the United States, but, of course, conditions may vary with periods of depression and periods of prosperity. America has the fundamental principles for prosperity."

Touching upon his ambitions for the development of industry, Mr. Schwab said he cares not for monumental tribute to his memory, but for long rows of smokestacks over thriving industries, "for that is what makes America what she is."

Brief reference was made to the labor situation in this country, and the steel magnate took occasion to reiterate that he does not believe in labor unions as now organized. He told of the system in force in his plants in dealing with labor and of the good results obtained through conferences with appointed representatives of the men in the shops. He said he has found labor not difficult to deal with or autocratic.

WORK HOUSE WILL BE CLOSED AT ONCE BY LOCAL ACTION

Wtth only five prisoners in the Work House at present, and with the number of prisoners being taken care of insufficient to keep up the institution, the city and county commssioners in joint session Monday afternoon agreed to close the place immediately.

A resolution was drawn up by the Work House Board, stating that in the event that there were not sufficient prisoners in the institution to make it self sustaining, that it be closed at once. Copies of this resolution have been forwarded to each of the five counties holding a contract with the Xenia Work House for taking care of prisoners.

The five counties of Champagne, Ross, Clinton, Fayette, Logan and Greene, are at present the only counties retaining the contracts with the Xenia Work House and sending prisoners here. Several have been withdrawn in recent years. Owing in a great measure to prohibition, which greatly cut down the number of prisoners received at the Works, there have been only a few confined in the institution for the past several months. Greene county will probably enter into a contract with some city still retaining the Work House to take care of prisoners from this county in the future. The contracts with the counties can be cancelled in 60 days, but it is thought that the majority of the counties will not insist that the contracts be upheld for the full time, and they will make immediate arrangements with other Work Houses for care of prisoners

The commissoners also agreed at the joint sesion to allow all excavating material from Dayton avenue to be dumped into the low ground around the Work House. The county commissioners will join with the city in the land owned exclusively by the latter, in filling and grading the lots. The section will then be platted into lots and with the buildings will be sold in the near future.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

A striking illustration of the general emancipation of Turkish women brought about by the war is afforded by the designation of Zeliha Hanoum as minister of education in the cabinet of Mustapha Kemal. Mrs. Hanoum is the wife of Dr Adan Bey, formerly president of the Turkish Crescent and until recently minister of health. She is thirty-five years old, the mother of three childen, a devout Mohammedan and has attained fame as the author of several strongly Pan-Islamic novels.

Mrs Hanoum who is called the most prominent woman in Turkey today, is, perhaps the most celebrated pioneer in the movement for higher education of Turkish women. She was the first Turkish woman to graduate from an American college in Turkey, despite the persistent opposition of the former sultan, who forced her to discontinue her studies many times. Later she was an instructor of French in the Turkish school at Stamboul.

Although educated in a school where the teachers were all Christians, she retained her Mohammedan faith but removed the black veil from her face, as many other Turkish women have done. She is a firm believer in the superior cultural value of Mohamet's teachings. Because of her unusual power as an orator, she has been a popular speaker in behalf of political movements and against the peace treaty. She is quoted as saying "We shall never consent to be separated from Trace and Smyrna with their historical monuments. The cross shall never be raised over our mosques.'

The photograph shows her giving one of her impassioned speeches.

Mrs. Votaw has been doing police work among girls ever since the bureau was opened two years ago.

CONTRACTS LET FOR DEVELOPMENT OF WATER WORKS

wash water steel tank and tower, the Pittsburg-DesMoines Steel Co. was awarded the contract on their bid of $3,775. No bids were received on the filter plant which includes the iron removal plant and all buildings and it was decided at the meeting that the city would do this work by direct employment of the labor and purchase of the material The city had a tentative bid on the work for about $30,000 but it is estimated that it can be done by the direct method for about $20,000 the savng being made through the use of old material from the present station.

Now that the city has awarded the contracts for all the work, the total cost of the work is known exactly. It is now an assured fact, according to City Manager Riddle that the $65,000 avalable from the sale of the bonds which draw five and one-half per cent interest, is sufficient to complete the entire improvement and pay all the administration expenses. The engineers' fees according to Mr. Riddle cannot exceed $2,400.

It is pointed out that the future of the water works department is exceedingly promising in that the city will have a modern pumping station and purification plant which will salvage at least $20,000 to the city available for other improvements than the development of the new supply.

Another feature of the new plant is the great reduction in operating costs. At present the cost of pumping water is over 20,000 annually, while the cost with the new plant will not exceed $9,000 a year the saving on pumping amounting to about $11,000 a year.

P. G. A. Constant Reader—Reducing the bust is one of the hardest things in the world to do. The best way to do it is to reduce all over for in practically every case where the bust is too large the girl or woman is over-weight. Wearing a light, unboned brassiere under the clothes will hold in the bust and make it less noticeable.

I know of many cases where women have successfully reduced a large bust by rubbing with spirits of camphor. This as you know, is the method followed in weaning a baby, when the mother is trying to dry up the milk and it is, I believe, responsible for most cases of flat bust. If you want to use this method I would advise you to ask your doctor's opinion of it first.

If you are a very young girl I would not advise you to use any artificial means, for very frequently the maturing figure over-develops in one place. This over-development will go as the figure matures.

A Reader—How long the yeast treatment should be taken, depends upon the physical condition for which you are using it. I would advise you to keep it up until the skin is perfectly healthy and clear and then discontinue.

B. W. S.—When using peroxide to bleach hair on the upper lip, scrub it on with a small brush after you have washed and dried the face. Pull out the more noticeable of the dark hairs with the tweezers.

Mrs D.—The formula I have for a bust developer is a simple fattening tonic containing one ingredient which acts directly on the mammary glands. It is perfectly harmless and in practically all cases it has developed the bust to a noticeable extent. It tends to make the entire body fatter

Peggy.—I do not think you eat too much salt to be harmful All it probably does to you is to make you drink water, which is very good for you. You weigh about 6 pounds too much. If you want a cold cream which will overcome the dryness of your complexion, send me a letter with a self-addressed, stamped envelope enclosed for my cold cream formula. This contains vegetable oil which is absorbed by the skin. You have probably een using cold cream made of mineral oil which is cleansing but not nourishing.

Jennie B.—Send me a letter with a self-addressed, stamped envelope enclosed for my formula for hair tonic. If you will use this regularly I know that it will make you hair thicker and healthier.

Seven Ladies.—Have you tried sage and sulphur to color the gray hairs? This is perfectly harmless. The only trouble is that there are some kinds of hair that take up a very small amount of this coloring Henna comes in various ways to give various shades. This is drying though it is not harmful.

Johnny Klesch of Cleveland, was given the decision over Billy Weeks, of Springfield, middleweights, in the main mill, a twelve round go, of the first boxing to be held under the auspices of the Greater Springfield Athletic Club, at Memorial Hall, Springfield Monday night.

A good clean show, with plenty of bugs out for the sport offering, is practical assurance that the game, initiated to the Reaper City Monday evening, has a promising future and will live as long as it is on the basis that it has been started.

Klesch only shaded Weeks in the last three rounds when he forced the fighting and outpointed the veteran. The decision was given by Referee Ollie Pecord, who handled the famous Willard-Dempsey fight last July 4.

In the semi-windup, Young Webb of Dayton, failed to weigh in and Joe Thomas of Columbus, who was substituted for him was unable to stand the pace put up by Joe Price of Cleveland. Pecord elled the bout in the second round after Thomas had been on the mat twice. In the preliminary, Billy Gibbs of Pittsburg outpointed Fred Katz of Toledo, and won the decision in a six round opener.

His paper was read at the meeting of The Ohio Gas & Oil Men's Association in convention at Columbus. One statement he made was that:

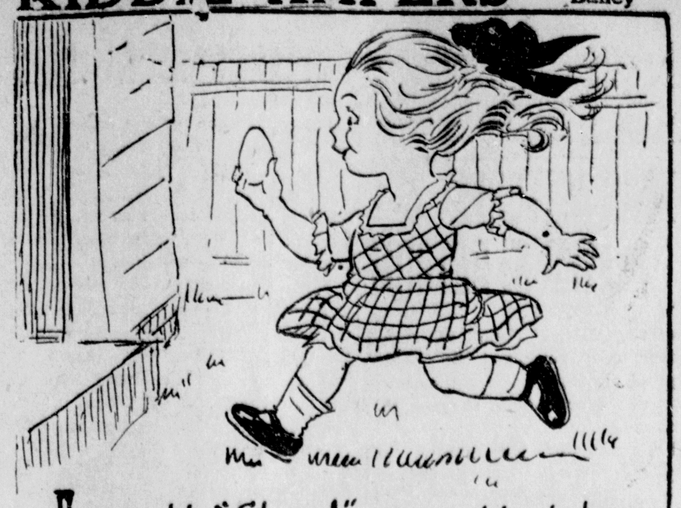

THREE QUARTERS OF THE ORIGINAL SUPPLY OF NATURAL GAS IN THE APPALACHIAN FIELDS IS ALREADY EXHAUSTED—OF THE PORTION USED FOR DOMESTIC PURPOSES AT LEAST 70 TO 80 PER CENT IS NOW WASTED THROUGH THE USE OF CRUDE BURNERS.

In ths way the various substitute committees of the Olympic committees throughout the country will nominate the best amateurs for the final bouts here and interest in these finals is sure to be greater than ever before.

Bouts will be staged in eight classes, from flyweights to heavyweights and the contests will be governed by Olympic rules so that the contestants will be given an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the code under which bouts will be staged at Antwerp.

The weight will be 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160, 175 and the heavy weight class includes all boxers weighing over 175 pounds.

They are the rifle and riding teams, made up mostly of the leading marksmen and equestrian experts of the army and navy. They are due to arive at Antwerp about July 4.

CIRCUS TO VISIT XENIA JULY 6TH

This city is to have a big circus on July 6. The advance agent of Rhoda Royal's bg combination circus and menagerie, is now in the city and yesterday secured the School Site upon which to pitch the tents. It will require twice as much space for the tents as that required by other shows which have been here. In the circus tents no less than eleven events are carried on at one time.

One good feature about the show is that it bears a first class reputation as being clean and free from all pick-pockets and petty thieves. A small detective force travels with the show to guard against the presence of this undesirable class. There will be two performances, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening.

SAYS SCARBOROUGH WILL AID HARDING

The Chicago Defender, a paper devoted to the interests of the colored race, has predicted in a recent issue that former President W. S. Scarborough of Wilberforce University, will be in the inner circle of the Harding campaign this fall.

According to the Defender, the local educator was not only a strong advocate for the Ohio Senator's nomination but is also a personal friend of the nominee, and it is believed that he and his campaign manager, Mr. Daugherty will rely much on the wisdom of Dr. Scarborough on racial problems during the coming campaign. The Defender in the same issue gives a complete account of the commencement exercises at Wilberforce, paying tribute to Dr. Scarborough for his work at the colored institution and using a picture of the local man in connection with the story.
